Description: ASHF's 20 hour Unarmed Security Guard training prepares trainees for careers in the security and investigation industry. All individuals who want to be employed as a Private Security Officer in the State of Illinois must complete the 20 Hour Unarmed Security Investigator Training Course. The 20-hour course provides trainees with an introduction to the history of law enforcement, ethics, criminal-civil law, licensing-investigation, use of force, and awareness/ preparedness. Monday: 9:00 am - 5:00 pm Tuesday: 9:00 am - 5:00 pm Wednesday: 9:00 am - 5:00 pm Certifications earned: Permanent Employee Registration Card (PERC) ASHF's Unarmed Security Training Program For those youth participants opting for security guard training, the course meets the 20 hour requirements of the Illinois Department of Financial and Professional regulation. It covers security fundamentals for new officers who want to earn State unarmed security certification. Topics covered in the training include: legal framework governing private security—i.e. arrest search and seizure and private security, civil and criminal liability and private security, use of force, public relations, unauthorized acts and reinforcement of responsibilities. Participants who complete the course receive a completion certificate, which is needed to obtain a PERC (Permanent Employee Registration Card) from the State of Illinois. Both the classroom training and the Permanent Employee Registration Card (PERC) earned through the training are prerequisites for a person employed by a private security or private detective agency. Unarmed Security Training as a Critical Skills Career Area ASHF offers a three-day security guard training for individuals over the age of 18. According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, Illinois ranks 5th nationally for states with the highest employment level in this field, with 8.41 individuals per thousand jobs employed in this industry (49,250 total jobs). AverageHourly wage is about 14.88.

Description: Participants selecting this training course will have options including Cara's Classic program or our South Side Campus program, with additional training in this field. Cara Classic, a full-time program, is the path for you if you have been out of the workplace for a while or could benefit from additional practice and a guided pathway to ensure your long-term success on the job. We liken the Cara experience to a simulated workplace where, in addition to skill-building coursework, you will also have a coach, a team of peers, and a set of responsibilities to get done just as you would on a job. Our classes include everything from basic computer skills and interviewing competency to how to shine in your service to a customer. All throughout your experience at Cara you will also have a dedicated coach to block and tackle challenges that may come up in life while you're in the program, as well as to help take classroom learnings and actively apply them to your daily life. You will meet some amazing people and be part of a strong community where we have each other's backs and help lift each other up so we all succeed. Our South Side campus offers a flexible, workshop based training model. Cara is a National Retail Foundation Approved Site for Customer Service Training, offering courses leading to the nationally-recognized Customer Service and Sales certification. Additionally, we work with the Rebuilding Exchange to provide a retail and customer-service related training. This opportunity includes on the job training and work experience. Cara also offers a Customer Service and Prepared Foods Training opportunity through Whole Foods, a national grocery chain. Cara's Classic Training program is at 237 S Desplaines. Attendance is required M-Th from 8:30am- 5:00pm. Cara's South Side Campus is located at 4655 S King Drive. It is open from Monday-Friday and offers flexible scheduling options.

■ Background Check: Background Check is not required for this training/career path

Description: This Food Service Training Program assists job seekers in attaining good, entry-level employment in the food service industry. In the program, students learn knife skills, baking, soups and sauces, as well as how to work with meats, poultry, fish, and vegetables. Training is mostly hands-on in a real restaurant kitchen. Students should be prepared to train during mornings, afternoons and weekends. In the first month of instruction, classes are Monday - Friday, 9 to 4. In months two and three, students will also do weekend . All students test for Food Handlers certificates. In addition to cooking skills, participants learn communication and job readiness and receive help with basic needs (including CTA passes). All graduates receive a certificate of completion, job placement assistance, the opportunity to take the Food Handlers Certification, and the Food Service Sanitation Managers Certificate exam. Graduates who live in Chicago can also have a one-month paid transitional job experience. Staff set up interviews with potential employers and support students in their own job searches. 75% of Food Service graduates have become employed and 60% have kept a job for at least six months. Typical job titles include line cook, prep cook, kitchen assistant, grill cook, and deli worker. Application process requires students to: 1) attend an orientation; 2) complete an application; 3) pass math and English tests; 4) complete an interview; 5) participate in a hands-on exercise in the kitchen, with one of the chef trainers; and 6) pass a TB test. Applicants must be committed to finding full (or close to full) time employment in the food service industry immediately upon graduation. Also, a candidate must provide: -proof of income, or affidavit declaring no income -proof of address or letter proving homelessness -proof of social security number (It is not necessary to bring each of these to the orientation, as these documents will be collected later in the process.)

Description: The Careers in Manufacturing program allows people to choose between two different tracks: Welding, or CNC (computer numerical control) manufacturing. These tracks range on average from 14 weeks (welding) to 20 weeks (CNC) to complete. Welding training participants earn an industry credential through the American Welding Society (AWS)--AWS GMAW D1.3 credential for gas metal arc welding. CNC training participants earn industry credentials through the National Institute for Metalworking Skills (NIMS)-- such as CNC Milling Level 1 and CNC Turning Level 1. Participants in both tracks earn the OSHA 10-hr safety certificate. The program is open-entry and open-exit for all tracks, meaning trainees begin when they are assigned a start date and complete the program upon employment in the manufacturing industry. Class is run as a work-place simulation, including a standard attendance policy and hands-on experience.

 Career Information: Information about this career (https://apps.il-work-net.com/cis/Clusters/OccupationDetails/100341?parentId=111600)
■ Background Check: Background Check is not required for this training/career path
Description: This course offers a tractor-trailer driving program that combines classroom instruction and hands-on training. This program will familiarize you with tractor-trailer systems and components. You will learn to conduct an efficient pre-trip inspection in accordance with CDL requirements and become proficient in troubleshooting minor mechanical problems. Students are also taught to couple/uncouple a tractor-trailer and develop the backing skills necessary to pass the Commercial Driver's License test. The focus of this program is on the safe and proper handling of semi tractor-trailers, both in restricted areas and on public streets and highways. Students are exposed to many different driving situations, such as two-lane roads and highways. Much of the class material is learned online which provides great flexibility for students who can't commit to a full time class schedule. Students are able to complete online modules and learn at their own pace and around their own schedule. Having a CDL opens many lucrative employment opportunities both locally and nationally. Drivers with a CDL are in high demand and starting wages are very competitive.
