TDL Task Force 12/6/2016

The Transportation, Distribution and Logistics Task Force met in October to divide members into self-selected teams to develop short-term and long-term action models. These models address increase in awareness of the industry and its occupations, specifically truck drivers; increase capacity; improve alignment with education and training; and address driver shortages. Reports from these teams will be provided at their next meeting in December.

TDL Task Force Teams

Team 1: Increase Awareness of the Industry

Team 2: Increase Capacity & Alignment of Secondary and Post-Secondary Education/Training

Team 3: Expand K-12 Career Awareness

Team 4: Address Truck Driver Shortage by Promoting Efforts to Reduce Turnover Rates

The four TDL Task Force Teams have developed models that can be tested over the next 60 days (short-term action models) and models that are System Models (long-term action models) that require months to reveal impact.

- Groups will use the next 15 days to cleanup, add or change model designs
Expectations of next TDL Task Force meeting on December 15, 2016:
- Each of the teams will have 6 - 9 minutes to review the next steps of their model
- The Test Models will provide test activities
- The System Models will provide projected schedule of events
