Current Need for Client Outreach

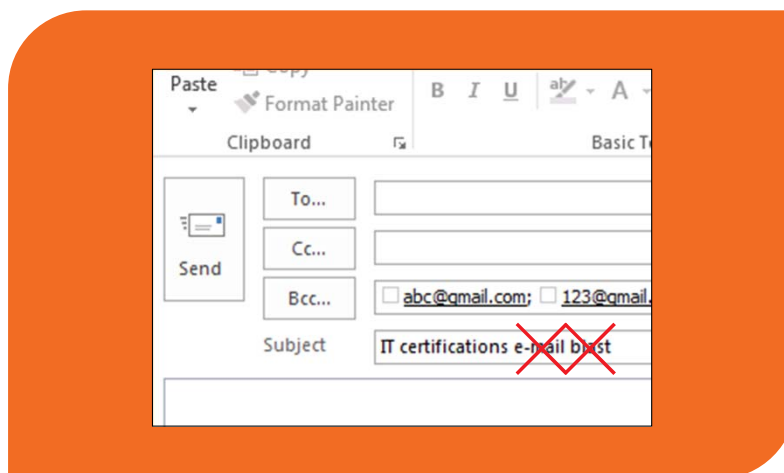

IDES Email Blasts

IDES Email Blasts

- IDES e-mail blasts can work well in solving this problem, so please consult with your local IDES representative for more information.
- Keep in mind that blasts must be for an event.
 - IDES won't send out an e-mail blast just to get people to come in randomly.
 - Scheduling a IT JD NEG orientation has worked well for some centers.

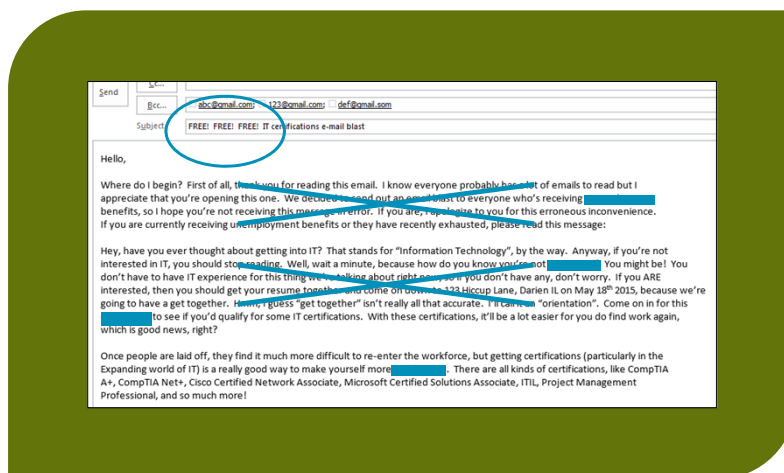

IDES Email Blasts

Email Blasts – Best Practices

- Target the right people, if possible (segmentation).
 - If your center is targeting experienced IT professionals, you might be able to target that segment.
 - If your center is sending the blast to everyone, be sure to use careful wording in your message in order to capture the right audience.

IDES Email Blasts

IDES Email Blasts

- Measure your results as best as you can
 - How many people opened the email?
 - How many people clicked on links from the email?
 - Find out what worked and what didn't
- Speak with IDES rep to see what metrics are possible for you
 - If metrics aren't possible, count the amount of people who show up to your event, and compare that to the amount of people who received the email. This will give you a general idea of how well the blast worked.

Avoiding Negative Content

- Avoid these items on your workplace page:
 - Workplace party pictures
 - Political backing
 - Negative portrayal of another agency or customer
 - Inappropriate language or pictures
 - Inactive pages and website links that don't work or lead to malicious sites
- Before you tag another page, be sure you have gone to that page and reviewed what they have posted to ensure there connection to you won't be viewed as negative.
- If your marketing manager, or whomever is adding content to your social media pages have two sites (a work site and a personal one) they need to be sure they are posting to the proper site. For an example of things that could go wrong google "Chrysler social media mistake" and read about the man who was fired for posting to his company site instead of his personal one.

 - Add your URL, page name or twitter handle to your posts to drive followers to your site.
- LinkedIn:
 - Can also search for local talent, so the site can be used to fulfill many of your centers needs.

 - Can be up to 140 characters, but those with 0-70 words get 90% more engagement.
 - To start a tweet with a tag use @createitfutures (sample) to allow all to see post.
